WAS TAKEN FROM THE ALIVE, BUT DIED IN THE HOSPITAL.

SEVEN MEN ARE LYING AT VICTOR AND RED CROSS HOSPITALS. FATALITY INJURED

Creek, Colo., June 6—Twelve men were instantly killed and 8 or 9 badly injured by an explosion occurred after midnight at Independence station of the Florida and Cripple Creek railroad. The explosion has not been traced, but apparently it was the result of a plot against the non-union men on the night shift at the Shurtliff and Last Dollar mines, and just finished work and were returning to their homes. There was no warning whatever of their fate.

Explosion occurred beneath the mine on which they were waiting, hurling many of them high in the air, destroying the adjoining mine and rendering a great hole in the earth. It is believed a large quantity of dynamite had been placed in the mine and that it was fired by means of electricity, or concussion caused by the approaching train.

Train had not arrived at the Independence depot but was within a distance of it when the explosion occurred. About forty-five or fifty men were on the train, and the Last Dollar mine had gathered at the depot platform and they were blown into the air in every direction.

One man's body, cut in two, and one hundred yards from the mine of the explosion. Seven bodies were pulled out together and the remains of others were secured as fast as possible. On account of the terrible nature of their wounds, identification was difficult.

Reactor, of the Shurtliff mine, during the explosion, said: "There were about fifty or sixty of us," said waiting for our train, which was up the track a few hundred feet. A number of miners had not yet reached the depot, running toward it with their buckets in hand. The train chugged the depot at a moderate rate and the crowd on the platform began to move around to secure a vantage in getting aboard as the train stopped. At that time a great explosion occurred under their feet. The impact of the buildings in the town and the mine became absolutely dark.

Moments later the groans of the dead were heard and people came running from residences and stores. I was uninjured. The platform and the surrounding buildings were rent into splinters. The rescue was begun at once. Wounded miners were picked up at different points near the scene and were quickly carried to the train and sent to Victor. The dead were found after much difficulty. There was almost total darkness in the vicinity.

The train was in charge of Engineer W. W. Rush and Fireman James Gardner, who escaped unhurt.

The train consisted of two large passenger coaches and was without passengers, as this was the first trip of the morning and Independence was the first station where passengers were expected.

It is supposed that at least 200 pounds of dynamite must have been used to produce such an explosion.

The depot was destroyed. On the ground where it stood there is a great hole as if made by an earthquake. The shock of the explosion was felt in every direction. The miners who stood on the platform were literally shot far into the air.

The theory of the accident is scout ed by every one.

INTERNAL MACHINE FOUND.

Later detectives found the machine which set off the dynamite under the platform. It consisted of a revolver and 300 feet of steel wire. The revolver was placed under the platform close to the powder. The other end of the wire was fastened to a chair leg which was used as a lever from the cribbings of the Delmonico property. The whole district is aroused over the catastrophe and further trouble is feared. A number of flights have already occurred. Guns will doubtless soon be brought into play if conditions remain as they are.

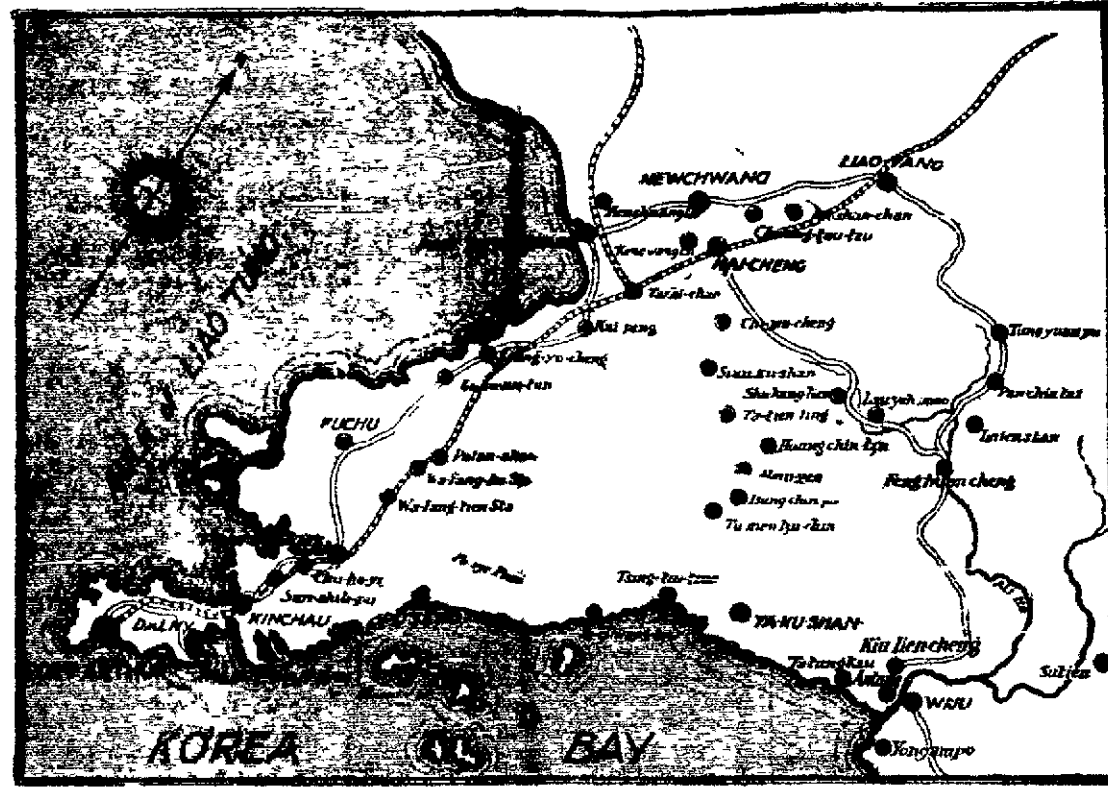

Independence is about 6 miles from this city by rail. A special train carrying physicians was despatched to the scene of the explosion and the injured were taken to the Victor hospital. Sheriff Robertson with deputies and police officers of both Cripple Creek and Victor went to Independence on the special train and immediately began a careful search for clues to the perpetrators to the out- rage.

Most of the killed and injured were non-union miners employed on the Findley mine, which is controlled by A. E. Carlton, president of the First National bank, of American and prominent in the councils of the Cripple Creek Mine Owners Association. The conspirators evidently did not wish to kill or injure any of the crew in charge of the train.

When within 75 feet of the depot at Independence, the engine whistle sounded as a signal for the men at the depot to get ready to board and to warn any laggards to make haste if they wished to catch the train.

The whistle was the death signal, for no sooner had the shrill blast sounded than a muffled roar was heard and the mountain tremble as if rocked by an earthquake. The train, which was running very slowly, was brought to a sudden stop by the engineer, and members of the train crew ran hastily forward to investigate. They were horror-stricken at the sight that greeted their eyes, a spectacle that was made all the more gruesome by the sickly flickering lights from the lanterns and burning torches carried by the railroad men. It took only a few seconds for the trainmen to appreciate the terrible situation, and

PORT ADAMS, WHERE THE JAPS CUT THE RUSSIAN LINE IN TWO.

The Japanese campaign is beginning to unfold and students of the military situation are now commencing to comprehend the various Japanese movements in Manchuria. The dash through Korea and across the Yalu is now seen to have been merely for the purpose of drawing the main Russian line of defense up from the bottom of the Liao Tung Peninsula with the consequent isolation and small protection of Ports Arthur and Dairen, the Russian gates to the Pacific, and to the control of the North China situation. But with General Kuropatkin at Harbin, 200 miles from Port Arthur and Dairen, the Japanese have sent a strong division into Port Adams, where the railway and the Liao-Tung Gulf come within a quarter mile of each other. At Port Adams the Japanese column struck the Russian line, captured the railway and finally and completely isolated Port Arthur and Dairen from the rest of the Russian empire. The Russians replied by destroying $10,000,000 of dock facilities and another ten millions of fortifications and commercial construction. $20,000,000 of Russian money (borrowed by the way, from France) blown into atoms because the Japs had reached Port Adams. Since then the Japanese columns have gone as far north as New Chwang, and are supposed to be devouring in detail the smaller military posts in the New Chwang district. The map shows clearly the strategic values of the respective positions secured by the Japanese and the necessity of a decisive Japanese defeat on a grand scale before Russian influence can again become dominant in this most important district, the pearl of Manchuria, without which the Province would not be worth the life of a single regiment of soldiers to the czar's government.

WOOPER Was Making Ante-Mortem Statement to

Minions of the Law That Woman Had Shot Him When She Called to See Him at Hospital.

Shooting Affair in Chicago Hospital Which It Is Alleged Grew Out of Failure to Keep Promise to Wed.

Chicago, June 6—When Mrs. Rebecca Bailey called at the Wesley hospital to see her wooer, Louis Miller, who had been taken to the institution probably fatally wounded by a bullet, she was arrested on a charge of shooting him. At the time of her arrival the man was making an ante-mortem statement accusing her and the police were searching for her.

With Mrs. Bailey was Miss Sophia Grabner, who was held at a witness of the shooting. Mrs. Bailey and Miller were to have been married within a week.

Miller died later. The shooting took place in Mrs. Bailey's apartments and it was four hours later before the police were informed. The man was found by Mrs. C. J. Snyder, who declares he said that he had shot himself. Mrs. Bailey had fled from the house. The police found the apartments deserted. Mrs. Bailey and Miss Grabner could not be found. It was learned that the woman had rented the apartments a few days before and that she gave the name of Mrs. Miller. The theory of the police is that Mrs. Bailey shot Miller while in a jealous rage because of his failure to name a day for the wedding. Little is known of Mrs. Bailey's life prior to the death of her husband. Bailey, who was a member of the staff of Wesley hospital and a lecturer at the hospital. Her maiden name was Barrett. Although never known in Chicago by the name of Hicks, Mrs. Bailey is said to have last year become the wife of one Edward Hicks, and that divorce proceedings are pending in the supreme court.

SEVEN STORY WAREHOUSE

Of Drug Firm Destroyed by Fire—Loss Will Reach Hundred Thousand.

New York, June 6—Fire early today destroyed the seven-story drug warehouse of McKesson and Robbins, on Ann street. The fire was burning a long time before it was discovered for when the firemen arrived the building was blazing from cellar to roof. Ann street is only twenty feet wide at that point and it was only after a four-hour fight that the main building of McKesson and Robbins, which extends from Ann street through the block to and fronting Fulton street was saved. The loss will reach $100,000. Three firemen were bruised and cut by glass.

FASHION TALK.

Boston, June 6—The fifth annual convention of the International Ladies Garment Workers union was opened here today with a large attendance. The convention represents all the organized women's garment workers in the United States and Canada. President Benjamin Schlesinger in his annual report advocated that all members give more attention to political affairs than they have in the past.

MRS. CLEMENS DEAD.

Florence, Italy, June 6—Mrs. Samuel M. Clemens, the wife of "Mark Twain" the American author and lecturer, died of syncope here yesterday evening. Half an hour before her death she had conversed cheerfully with her husband. The remains will be sent to the United States for interment.

Mrs. Clemens was married in 1870. Her maiden name was Olivia L. Langdon. She was born in Elmira, N. Y.

BULLETIN.

Richmond, Va., June 6—Fire in the tobacco district of Danville, this morning destroyed three warehouses and four million pounds of leaf tobacco. The American Tobacco Co. was the owner of the building. The estimated loss is $600,000, covered by insurance.

FEARS

That Action of U. S. in Sending

Warships to Coast of Morocco for Purpose

Of Securing a Port on Northwest Coast of Africa Are Unfounded.

France, Great Britain, Spain and This Country Are Working in Perfect Harmony for Release of American Subject.

London, June 6—The fears expressed at Madrid, that the action of the United States in sending a fleet to Tangier was due to the American desire for a port on the west coast of Morocco, and the rumors at the Spanish capital of an exchange of notes between the European powers with the view to obtaining assurance that the American action would be confined to liberating Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley are not shared and are not confirmed at the Spanish embassy here. Nor has Ambassador Choate heard anything of the exchange of notes mentioned by La Correspondencia de Espana. The Spanish government appears to be acting in perfect harmony with Great Britain and the United States and no apprehension is expressed in Spanish official circles that the United States has any designs except to ensure the safety of Mr. Perdicaris, an American citizen.

The despatch of the Spanish battleship Pelayo and other Spanish vessels to Tangier, it is pointed out at the Spanish embassy, was rendered essential by the large number of Spanish subjects residents both in Morocco and in the territory on the northwest coast of Africa. Some fears are expressed that a general rising in Morocco might ensue in the event of hasty action by an outside power, but it is believed that if France is not hampered, she will be able to secure the release of the captives.

The rumor of the suggested sale of the Philippine Islands to Japan receives no credence here.

Togo Is Made An Admiral.

Rumored Sinking of Big Japanese Vessel off Talien Wan, Lacks Confirmation. Keriso's Threat That He Would Come Again Will Not Be Carried Out.

TOKIO, JUNE 6—11 A. M.—THE DESTROYER FLOTILLA ENGAGED IN WATCHING PORT ARTHUR FROM THE EASTWARD REPORTS THAT 7 40 P. M. ON JUNE 4, A RUSSIAN GUNBOAT OF THE GLIAT TYPE WAS SEEN TO EXPLODE, AND SINCE NEAR CHEN TAO SHAN THE VESSEL WITH ANOTHER GUNBOAT, A DESTROYER AND OTHER STEAMERS WAS EVIDENTLY ENGAGED IN CLEARING THE VICINITY OF MINES WHEN THE EXPLOSION OCCURRED. THE OTHERS HURRIED BACK INTO PORT ARTHUR. VICE ADMIRAL TOGO EXPRESSES THE OPINION THAT THE EXPLOSION WAS CAUSED BY A JAPANESE TORPEDO. THE NAME OF THE GUNBOAT DESTROYED IS UNKNOWN, BUT IT WAS SEEN BEFORE ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS BY THE JAPANESE ACTING AS GUARDSHIP AT THE MOUTH OF THE HARBOR.

CHE FOO, JUNE 6—4 P. M.—RUSSIAN REPORTS VARY REGARDING THE SINKING OF A JAPANESE VESSEL OFF TALIAN WAN. IT IS BELIEVED IT WAS A MERCHANTMAN.

CHE FOO, JUNE 6—2 P. M.—THE RUSSIAN CONSUL HERE HAS RECEIVED NEWS THAT A LARGE JAPANESE VESSEL HAS BEEN SUNK BY A MINE OFF TALIAN WAN. THE NEWS HAS NOT BEEN CONFIRMED.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—The Novoe Vremya today discusses quite seriously the report that the United States intends to cede the Philippine Islands to Japan and argues that the farseeing Yankees, anticipating the inevitable future conflict with Japan, prefer to sell the islands instead of defending them, having thereby learned Russian's lesson of the present war, namely the difficulty of holding territory so far from the base. The paper adds: "Europe certainly was not pleased at the exchange of Spanish for American domination in the Philippines, but the latter is a thousand times more agreeable than to see Japan installed there, where she would be a constant menace to Europe's Asiatic interests. England will have to look well to her position in India, France to Indo-China and even Holland to Java. The only consolation is that the cession may keep Japan quiet for a number of years."

The military attaché of a first class power has telegraphed here that General Kuropatkin's headquarters staff has moved 40 miles south of Liao Yang, to a point between Hai Cheng and Darhitzsiao.

Keriso's Threat.

Port Arthur, Sunday, June 6—Among the documents found on the Yeddo, one of the vessels sunk at the mouth of the harbor, the following defiance was discovered fastened on the rail of the bridge:

"Remember, my dear Russian sailors, my name is Lieutenant Commander Keriso; this is my second visit; my first was on the Kossuke. I will come again."

This threat was not carried out, however, as Keriso was found among the dead.

Japs Suffer Small Loss.

Seoul, June 5.—(Delayed in transmission)—The Japanese consul at Gen San wires that during a skirmish which took place on the third instant, 30 Japanese soldiers and one lieutenant were killed and three men were severely wounded. The Russians, in retreating, burned a number of Korean villages. The natives, seizing old flint locks and weapons of all sorts, attacked the Cossacks, killing two and wounding several. There are about two thousand Japanese troops now at Gen San. The merchants there have not left.

Togo Rewarded.

London, June 6.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says a number of promotions for service had during the war were announced today, including the advancement of Vice Admiral Togo and Yamamoto to the rank of admiral.

A Little Strategy.

Tien Tsin, June 6.—M. Uchida, the Japanese minister to China, came to Tien Tsin yesterday from Peking to confer with the viceroy and returned to the capital today.

Japan, it appears to be confirmed, is trying to induce China to occupy the territory conquered from Russia, thus inveigling China into a breach of neutrality and giving Russia the opportunity of attacking China, who claims she will maintain her neutrality until the termination of the war.

QUICK WORK SAVED HIM FROM LYNCHING.

New York, June 6.—Quick work by a policeman has saved Sing Weng, a Chinese laundry man, from the vengeance of a mob in Perry street. Weng had stabbed and mortally wounded a white woman. Her body lay on the floor of the laundry and Weng was walking calmly about when two boys discovered the crime and sounded an alarm. A crowd gathered in a moment and began to batter in the door. Weng watched them, displaying much interest. Finally the door fell, and Weng was seized. There were threats of lynching and the Chinaman was faring badly when a policeman fought his way through the crowd and seized Weng. The latter turned on the officer and he was only dragged away after a battle. Police reserves drove off the crowd.

The Chinaman's victim was well known about the quarter. The laundryman refused to say why he stabbed her.

SHE IS BASHFUL.

Columbus, June 6.—Mrs. Carrie M. Collier, wife of Geo. M. Collier, the missing chief of the state department of steam engineer examination, was granted a divorce today by Judge F.

B. Dillon. Mrs. Collier refused to admit that she will immediately marry Andrew J. Smith, the Buffalo merchant who came here and secured a license to marry her some two weeks ago, under the impression that the divorce had been granted.

THREE

Events Celebrated

Grant Kelley's

Home the Scene of Much Mirth.

Dr. J. E. Mell Laid to Rest
In Woodlawn This Afternoon.

Banns Announced for the Marriage of Three Popular Young Couples
—Interesting and New Items In South Lima.

The Grant Kelley home on Madison avenue, was the scene of a triple birthday celebration yesterday, in which Mr. Kelley, wife and eldest son Cloyd were the victims of a well-planned surprise. Saturday was the 46th anniversary of Mr. Kelley, yesterday was Mrs. Kelley's birthday, and today their son Cloyd was 18. For the past weeks, Mr. Kelley has been scheming to give his wife a surprise, and meanwhile the wife had been planning an event for her husband, the result of which was yesterday's gathering and the boy wins the medal, for he too has been scheming some. About forty people, mostly relatives, were present, and they say Mr. Kelley was so "taken back" that he forgot himself and shook hands with his wife instead of a guest, and the wife was so excited she forgot to eat her dinner, which was a most bountiful spread. Music and a general good time were features of the afternoon. Those in attendance were Mrs. J. W. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs.
G. K. Monroe, Misses Ada and Ida
Monroe, Howard Monroe, Mr. and Mrs.
I. E. Monroe and son Cyril, of Pemberton, O., Mrs. S. W. Kelley, James A.
Kelley and son Leo, Miss Lorah Kelley, W. E. Kelley, Miss Mabel Kelley,
Miss Mae Loch, Mr. and Mrs. L. E.
Kelley, Miss Grace Kelley and Millard
Kelley, of Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. B. F.
Engle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. C. Monroe,
Misses Mae and Corinne Monroe, Wm.
Monroe, Miss Ora Hamer, Mrs. Wm.
Engle, daughter Helen and son Wm.,
Mr. and Mrs. John Mummaugh and son
Donald, of Lima, and Cloyd Kelley,
now of Dayton.

Obsequies of Dr. Mell.
The remains of Dr. J. E. Mell are now at rest in Woodlawn cemetery, having been laid away after a largely attended funeral service at the Congregational church this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. G. B. Garner, of the First Christian church, officiating. Deceased was born near Cairo in 1863 and with the exceptions of nearly a year spent in California and five years in the drug business at Bradford, O., his life has been spent in Allen county, where he was well and favorably known. He was married to Miss Mary Kuisely, of Cairo, in 1889, and came to Lima and engaged in the drug business seven years ago. Four years ago the 7th of June he was assaulted by robbers, the Monin brothers and Lew Breckmen, the Dayton trio with whom officer Goebel had the pistol fight and received a wound from which he died, and the doctor received a blow on the head from which he never fully recovered, and which the attending physician states, hastened his demise. Dr. Mell was a member of Lima Tent K. O. T.
M. and Ada lodge K. of P.
To mourn in the immediate family
are the wife, one son Lloyd N.; a niece Miss Mary Parrish, whom the Mell had adopted when but seven years of age, two brothers, P. T. Mell, county recorder, and Rev. G. R. Mell, of Delphos, and a sister, Miss Sarah Mell, also of Delphos.

The Grant Funeral.

Last respects were paid the remain-of Mr. Benjamin Grant, of Oak street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the U. B.
church, Rev. A. E. Davis officiating.
The remains now rest in Woodlawn cemetery. Mr. Grant had been a member of the U. B. church upward of six years, and passed away with the song "I'm Going Home," upon his lips.

Funeral of the Late John D. Foye Held This Morning.

Funeral services were held over the remains of the late John D. Foye, at the residence, corner High and Pierce streets, at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Rev. Mr. Lord, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The services were largely attended by many of the older citizens of Lima who knew and esteemed the deceased.

The remains were consigned to a resting place in Woodlawn cemetery.

McBETH PARK THEATRE.

Standing room was at a premium last night at the McBeth park theatre, to witness the presentation of "John Martin's Secret," by the stock company, which was a grand success from start to finish.

The foundation for the play is laid in the mountains of Tennessee, dealing with the revenue of fiefers and moonshiners in which every member of the company more than made good, and Richard Maddox's portrayal of a negro character kept the entire audience in a continuous uproar. The same play will continue until after Wednesday, at which time it will give way to "The Resurrection."

Doctrine in the Address

At the College,

Delivered Yesterday by Hon. I. S. Motter.

"The Ideal Christian College" Was the Subject so Ably Handled,

And the Great Truths of the Bible as a Foundation of Education Were Forcibly Brought to Mind.

In the presence of a small but appreciative audience, Hon. I. S. Motter delivered an address at Lima College, yesterday afternoon, having been assigned the topic: "The Ideal Christian College."

Rev. Eckhardt introduced the speaker in a few words of explanation, preparing those present for a convincing argument on the much-mooted question of the use and abuse of the bible in the various colleges, and the final conclusion—that without the guidance of the scriptures the life of the college student is incomplete, and his preparation for life's struggle without a foundation.

Mr. Motter began his address by saying that today no man or woman had an excuse for growing up in dense ignorance, because of the great opportunities open to them for the gaining of knowledge in the public schools, and the easy access to colleges which dot the land.

"But the real question confronting us," said the speaker, "is how should we conduct our colleges, and what should we do to carry out the plan of an ideal education? Learning is a great power for good, but we have learned, with bitter regret, that it can also be a great power for evil. The young man or woman who is just leaving college, is only at the threshold of an educational life. What he or she has for good or bad does not all come from the college, as we know from history and every branch of business life.

"In our own history there stands out boldly the names of great men—great leaders, great thinkers and even great scholars, who know not the advantages of the education offered so fully to every boy today. But, nevertheless, there comes in some way, an awakening of the faculties, and if it be not in college, it is over the midnight lamp that the sense of a yet hidden power begins to steal over the mind, and prepares the ambitious youth for a future which he may use either to brighten or destroy his own life and the lives of others.

"There must be something in the college that will bring to light the affections, the emotions, the faculties that enter into the ideal life. In plain words, there must be a Christian education. We may be able to solve any problem in industrial or commercial life; we may be able to take anything in nature and trace it back to something—but with each problem there comes a place where the student will have to stop. With all his early preparation—with all his education—he will be brought up against that place where learning ends and Christianity begins. It is there that faith is born.

"There is no country, which burns the light of civilization, that does not teach what the future promises—the immortality of the soul. We declare from reason that there is an all-wise Providence, a loving Father, a blessed Trinity; and when we talk about the ideal college, we mean the one that takes up the bible at the point where reason ends. The attacking of that citadel, where our immortality sleeps, demands that we stand up with a determination to overthrow all criticism, and we may meet the enemy of our peace and rest by sowing the seed of those who live—not by faith, but stand halting and uncertain where reason ends.

"True education is the seeking after truth, and it should prepare the student to meet the enemies who are erroneously attacking it. We have the biblical proofs, and all who disbelieve should heed the injunction to 'search the scriptures.' The individual who does not know that when the way is dark there is a hand to lead him beside the still waters, lives a life that is incomplete. We have a body, a mind and a character. All these must be developed in a Christian college, and it is the teaching there-received that prepares a man to meet the actualities of life. But beyond that, your very philosophy compels you to inquire, what of the hereafter? A Christian college must answer that question, and be able to send its children out into the world with ability to cope with those who do not give thought to what is beyond the grave. You may educate the body and mind of the youth, but neglect his soul's salvation, and you send him away unfit to use the material in the storehouse of his brain. According to the source from which we draw our information the faith life must enter into every curriculum, and must have a part in every Christian's life.

"The bible has stood the criticism of thousands of years and must we today have no answer for the poison administered by the teachings of those who seek to undermine its foundations? The thought of that future promise brings peace and comfort in the hour of trial and tribulation. With out it we would have no hope, none of the fine sentiments that make the home happy, or the lofty ambitions that move the world. Blot out the bible and faith gives way to the rising flood of theories which dethrone reason, and corrupt the morals of those who would otherwise have an abiding place in the world of high ideals."

At the conclusion of the address, Rev. Eckhardt voiced the sentiments of the audience in words of praise and congratulation, and then devoted a few moments to the needs of the Lima college, not as to its demands along the ideals suggested by Mr. Motter, but from a financial standpoint. Rev. Eckhardt takes an optimistic view of the situation, and will not stand on discouragement. He sees the promise of better things in the future and outlined a plan by which he hopes to secure the necessary funds for present emergencies. The college deserves to succeed and will be made to do so.

TEN YEARS IN BED.

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P., of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could not get no relief until Foley's Kidney cure was recommended to me. It has been a God send to me." H. F. Vorkamp, druggist.

Win One and Lose One.

Yesterday morning, on the Haller street grounds, the Watermelon Sluggers and the West End aggregations lined up for a game of ball in which the latter won by a score of 9 to 7. The score stood 7 to 5 in the ninth inning in favor of the Watermelon Sluggers, but good stick work of the West End boys netted them four runs, thereby winning the game. The batteries were West End—Good and Smith, Watermelon Sluggers—Thomas and Botaker.

In the afternoon on the fair ground diamonds, the Watermelon Sluggers defeated the Royals by a score of 15 to 8. Batteries—Watermelon Sluggers—Thomas, T. Fetterly and Cook; Royals—Fisher and Bailey.

Will Be Visited by M. H. Broderick,

A Well Known Former Lima-ite Now of Montpelier.

Left This City Saturday Night Accompanied by His Wife, Son and Niece, Miss Theresa Quinlan.

Saturday night, M. H. Broderick, of the Montpelier, Vt., firm of Linnetts, accompanied by his wife, son and niece, en route to visit in Europe. Mr. Broderick is a son of Mrs. Mary Broderick, of 417 West McKibben street, and Mrs. Broderick is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murphy, of north Main street. Concerning their trip abroad the evening Herald, of Montpelier, says:

Tonight M. H. Broderick, of the Broderick & Quinlan Manufacturing Co., will leave for Lima, Ohio, where he will join his wife and son, Master Joseph, who went to that city Saturday. Thursday, James Quinlan and daughter, Theresa, will go to Lima, where Miss Quinlan will join Mr. and Mrs. Broderick and son, and all will leave on a trip to Europe.

From Lima, they will go to Washington, D. C., for a few days and then leave for New York where they will sail June 10th, on the steamer Celtic, the fastest passenger boat of the White Star Line.

Mr. Broderick said this morning that they would probably land at Liverpool, a distance of 3,168 miles from New York. They will take in the principal cities of England, then go to Scotland and Ireland. After a tour of the islands is made, the trip will be extended to Germany, where Berlin and many other cities will be visited. After leaving Germany, Switzerland and Italy will be visited. In this part of the trip, Mr. Broderick and family will cross the Alps. The beautiful city of Venice will first be visited in Italy and from there they will go south to Rome where some time will be spent taking in the ancient city. From Italy, the trip will be made back across the Alps mountains, and into France, Paris will be the main stopping place in this country, although many other points of interest will be visited. Mr. Broderick said that his party would probably take a trip to the Holy Land.

During the trip, Mr. Broderick will visit the Krupp Gun Works, the principal navy yards and industries of the different countries he goes into, with a view of getting new ideas and seeing how they conduct business in the old country.

The trip abroad will consume about four months time. No set time is fixed for their return, but they will stay until they get their visit out. The return trip will probably be made from some part of France.

During Mr. Broderick's absence, Mr. Quinlan will look after the business of the works here. While he will have his hands full, he is fully capable of running any part of the business.

1000 CLAIMS
Equal Not a Single Fact. Lima endorsement Makes This Claim a Fact.

Endorsed by scores of Lima citizens, who cheerfully make a public statement of their experience, is the proof we have to back our claims that Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills, from a common backache to serious urinary disorders. Here is one real example. We have many more.

Mrs. Jas. M. Chittick, of 741 north West street, says: "For eight or nine years I had weakness of the back and kidneys. There was a tired heavy feeling pain constantly through my loins, not sufficiently severe to confine me to the house, but it was a continual source of worry to me. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me the least good until seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured a box of them at Melville's drug store and commenced the treatment. I felt benefited almost at once from the results obtained and have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills for I believe they are all they are represented to be."

SOME ANCIENT KEYS.

Enriched With Ornaments and Treated as Works of Art.

In the sixteenth century European iron workers produced keys enriched with ornaments in relief and treated as works of art. Nothing could be more graceful than the embossed figures, coats of arms and grotesque arabesques which embellished the bows, which in this utilitarian age are replaced by ordinary metal rings. The keys were first cast and then chiseled by an expert artisan. The so called "Strozzi key," formerly the property of Henri III. of France, changed hands a few years ago for the enormous sum of $6,000. The bow represents two sphinxes with grotesque heads, back to back, on the capital of a column. The stem is in the form of two concentric pipes; the bit is shrouded like a very fine comb. Another famous key dates from the beginning of the seventeenth century. The elaborate bow representing two seated male figures supporting a dual coronet. A third key is exceptionally ornate; the entire available space is enriched with arabesques, terminating in cupids, reclining river gods, a standing figure of Victory and similar devices. The stem of this key is supported by figures of a man and a woman.

Under Philip II. of Spain and his successors the ministers of the crown were possessed of what the Spaniards termed a clave maestria, or master key, which gave them admission to the royal palaces. During the reign of Charles II. (1673-1700) gift master keys were conferred on the nobles and gentlemen in attendance on the king. These keys corresponded with and gave admission to all the rooms of the royal palaces. They had huge, oblong bow handles, which projected from the right hand pocket and were attached to the person by a ribbon. The subordinate members of the royal household were honored with similar keys, though they were not gilt. It is recorded that if one of these keys was lost the unfortunate loser had to warn a high official of the court, who at once had all the locks changed at a cost of over 10,000 Spanish dollars. This large sum had to be paid by the unlucky individual who lost the key. Another curious custom in vogue in the peninsula at that time was the giving of dummy keys as badges of officials and to certain nobles who held no court post, as a mark of favor and distinction.

Egyptian keys still exist that are about 4,000 years old. They consist of straight pieces of wood furnished with three fixed wooden pins. An ancient writer says that "the keys of Egyptian temples bore the figure of a lion, from which chains were suspended having a heart attached to them." During the Roman occupation of Egypt, when iron was in general use, keys were made of that metal, many of them having a long, straight shank, or stem, about five inches in length, with a bar at right angles to it, on which are three or more projecting teeth, with a bow or ring at the opposite extremity. Another variety of Romano-Egyptian key has a wooden knob in place of the ring.

Pitfalls For Birds.

In Scotland there is a way of taking ptarmigan which seems so simple that it is hardly credible that any birds can be so captured. Yet reliable witnesses have spoken of it as successful. A place on the mountain side is chosen where ptarmigan resort and the snow lies sufficiently deep. With an old wine bottle, held neck foremost, holes are made in the snow and the bottom of each hole is filled with grain. The ptarmigans lean over to peck it out and find themselves overbalanced and caught head downward in the snow, unwilling prisoners, but unable to use their wings in getting out again.

In Siberia wild geese are regularly taken in pitfalls like these, but dug in the earth instead of being poked in the snow. The pits are dug on grassy places where the geese assemble and are shaped like large flowerpots, round and gradually narrowing to the bottom. Bait of grain prove irresistible, and the geese tumble headlong in, and then, being unable to extend their wings, find that they cannot get out again.

Treasures of the Sultan.

A correspondent, writing from Constantinople to a Paris journal, pretends, as the result of personal inspection, to give details of the amazing collection of jewels in the sultan's treasury. The turbans of all the sultans since Mohammed II. are there, all glittering with rare and large gems of the purest water. There are also the royal turbans of Persia, carried off by the Turks in 1514, and covered with more than 20,000 rubies, emeralds and fine pearls, and also the throne of Suleiman I., from the dome of which there hangs over the head of the caliph an emerald six inches long and four deep. These two thrones are the chief objects in the collection. An emerald 6 by 4 inches would certainly be a worthy decoration of the throne of Suleiman and Abdul!

Wooden Food.

A traveler in Siberia a few years back noted that among the natives along the northern coast wood, in a certain form, is a most common and constant article of diet. The natives eat it because they like it. Even when fish are plentiful it usually forms part of the evening meal, as many cleanly striped larch logs near every hot spring. These people know by experience that the fact of their eating wood arouses the sympathy of strangers and shrewdly use it to excite pity and to obtain gifts of tea and tobacco. They scrape off thick layers immediately under the bark of the log and, chopping it fine, mix it with snow. It is then boiled in a kettle. Sometimes a little fish roe, milk or butter is mixed with it.

SCRUM TREATMENT FOR HAY FEVER.

The treatment of hay fever by an antipollen serum has been successful in a number of cases, and in a list of 285 patients to whom it had been given under different circumstances and in different countries, recently compiled in Germany, 60 per cent are reported as completely relieved. 29 per cent partial cures, and 11 per cent failures. Hay fever is supposed to result from the pollen of various plants and the serum was prepared from inoculating horses with this pollen. It may be used in liquid or powdered form, and is applied locally. No attempts having been made as yet at subcutaneous injection. There is strong evidence to believe in the efficacy of the serum, and in the majority of cases it was found possible to relieve the patient and to shorten materially the seizure. Although it does not, however, prevent a recurrence of the attack, it has great value as a prophylactic.—Harper's Weekly.

WASHINGTON WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Mid of Dandruff Without Herpeticide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water? If you did what would you say of him? It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of dandruff and to prevent itching by feeding the germs which cause it, with Cantharides, Nuxdica, Oxymercurine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called hair greases.

Newb's Herpeticide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germs which feed on the hair roots. It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpeticide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ABOUT FAMOUS MEN.

Lord Broughman once visited a famous school in England, where one of the boy pupils, in honor of the guest, recited a part of one of his lordship's speeches. At the conclusion of the recital, depositing a very steady looking bat on his chair, he sprang to his feet and vehemently applauded the interpreter of his bygone eloquence. But unfortunately, on resuming his seat, he forgot that it was occupied by his bat, upon which he sank, with very disastrous consequences. Highly gratified with his reception, he passed on to the head master's house, where with the elite of the visitors, he was bidden to lunch. There, however, his self-esteem encountered a rude shock, for the policeman, stationed at the door to keep off undesirable company, sternly asked the dilapidated-looking person his business. "I am invited here to lunch," growled out the indignant guest. "Gammon," curiously responded the guardian of the peace. "I am Lord Broughman," was the furious rejoinder. "Let me pass!" "Bah!" contemptuously retorted the policeman; "you want me to believe that, do yer?" Move on. At this critical juncture the old lord, incensed with rage, was fortunately espied by another eminent guest, who succeeded in allaying the suspicions of the policeman.

Swinburne, the poet, is accused of "nearness." A recent writer tells how he was a fellow-guest at a luncheon. Swinburne arrived late and before entering the house, was engaged in a prolonged difference with his companion, who eventually snatched up his reins and drove rapidly off as he glad to get away. "The poet's got the best of it, as usual," drawled a guest who had been gleefully watching the scene; "he lives at the British Hotel, in Cockspur-street, and never goes anywhere except in hansoms, which, whatever the distance, he invariably remunerates with a shilling. Consequently, when, as today, it's a case of two miles beyond the radius, there's the devil's own row; but in the matter of imprecation the poet is more than a match for cabby, who, after five minutes of it, gallops off as though he had been rated by Beelzebub himself." The writer adds: "Here, looking it, must be owned, singularly innocent of anathema, Mr. Swinburne entered, and being fortunately in one of his characteristic veils, provided me with the most interesting hour of my existence."

A short time before his death, Disraeli sat for his portrait to Millais. In his studio hung a proof engraving of Gladstone, with his hands hanging down before him lightly clasped, and an almost beatific expression on his face. Millais observed that Disraeli's eyes were frequently bent upon the portrait. At length he asked him if he would accept a copy. "I was rather shy of offering it to you," he apologetically added. "I should be delighted to have it," said Disraeli with light for him was an almost eager manner; "people think that more or less through our political lives I have disliked Mr. Gladstone. To tell the truth, my only difficulty in respect to him has been that, studying him from day to day and year to year, I could never understand him."

SINGULARITIES.

An Englishman has devised an ingenious traveling bag fire escape. It can be made at any trunkmaker's for very little more than an ordinary portmanteau of the same kind would cost. Moreover, the fire escape part of it does not interfere to any extent with its capacity for holding your dress suit, boots, shirts or other things requisite for the traveler. In one small compartment will be found hundreds of feet of fine, light rope used by mountaineers in the Swiss Alps for roping themselves together while crossing glaciers and climbing precipitous ice slopes. There is also a particularly ingenious little brake arrangement and two pairs of steel snap hooks. In an alarm of fire is given in a hotel in the dead of night and the flames cut off every means of communication with the outside the possessor of this portmanteau simply slips out of bed, snaps one set of hooks round the bed leg or other substantial piece of furniture, and the other set to the sides of the portmanteau. This last he then throws out of the window, gets into it himself and then lowers himself as quickly or as slowly as he pleases by means of the brake.

Sir Frederick Bridge recently told the members of the London Society of Arts a story about some ladies whom he found listening in a country house to a mechanical piano player. By their enraptured expression of countenance he became aware that he was hearing a classical piece of enormous worth, though it sounded so very ordinary that he felt himself hardly educated up to it. So in a whisper he asked what it was, and received the reply that it was Bach's fugue in D minor. He still failed to recognize it, and when the piece was finished he discovered that the fugue had been played backward, as the ladies had put in the perforated paper upside down.

Sensational incidents are not uncommon in the closing stages of famous criminal trials. One of the most remarkable occurred in Melbourne on the last day of the trial of Ned Kelly, known to thousands of readers of penny fiction as the "Ironclad Bushranger of Australia." A knife dropped from a gallery overhead and fell at the feet of the desperado in the dock. He had every temptation to grasp it and put an end to his existence, for there was not the slightest chance of his escaping the gallows. But it was promptly picked up by a bailiff and its owner was arrested and brought before the judge. He pleaded that the occurrence was purely accidental, and the explanation was accepted by the court.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets Better than a Doctor's Prescription.

Mr. J. W. Turner, of Truhart, Va., says that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done him more good than anything he could get from the doctor. If any physician in this country was able to compound a medicine that would produce such gratifying results in cases of stomach trou-

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS.

Newport, June 6.—The experiments with submarine boats which have been going on here for a few days were continued today, when naval constructor J. J. Woodward took out the Porpoise. The boat first went from the surface to a depth of five feet. She was allowed to sink slowly while not in motion in order that constructor Woodward might see how completely she could be maneuvered and controlled. She was next sent down as far as 15 feet, and then to a depth of 33 feet. She was sunk to a greater depth and brought to the surface in two minutes and 32 seconds. Constructor Woodward, after the experiment, said she had behaved magnificently.

The Fulton also was put through a number of tests under water today to determine her speed, immediately finding quick signaling. If weather is favorable tomorrow the Fulton will start on the 24-hours endurance trip. In the opinion of experts here the submarine may safely be taken 200 miles off coast.

Interesting to Asthma Sufferers.

"I have had asthma for three or four years and have tried about all the cough and asthma cures in the market," says Daniel Bantz, of Otterville, Iowa, "and have received treatment from physicians in New York and other cities, but got very little benefit until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar which gave me immediate relief and I will never be without it in my house. I sincerely recommend it to all." For sale by H. F. Vorkamp.

MOORE FOR GOVERNOR.

Columbus, June 6.—Southern Ohio party leaders have started a boom for Ed. H. Moore, former mayor of Youngstown, for the democratic nomination for governor next campaign. Moore surprised even his friends by the strength displayed in the recent democratic state convention. He has so far declined to agree to stand for the honor.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced, pipes are the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by an old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle, it is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, and not mention the inconvenience of suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

Under Suspicion

(Original.)

"Mother," said Bessie Childers as she threw off her wraps excitedly, "something's wrong at the store."

"What is it, child?"

"Today at noon I went to the cloakroom to get my handkerchief, which I had left by mistake, and found the large inside pocket of my cloak filled with lace."

"Good gracious! What did you do?"

"I didn't do anything. I knew that I was in a dangerous position and wanted to take the right course. I went back to my counter to think it over and concluded during the afternoon to take the things to the office and state the case, but when I went back to the cloakroom the laces were gone."

"Taken out by some one who put them there?"

"I don't know. They may have been taken by one of the store detectives."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Nothing. If they were taken away by the thief there's no need to say anything; if by a detective, he will either accuse me at once or watch me."

Elizabeth Childers, who had lived rich and died poor. Her mother taught music, and Bessie sold fancy articles in the dry goods store of Banning & Co. The next day Bertram Banning, son of the head of the firm, walked past her counter, looking at her with an expression that might mean anything, but surely meant something. Bessie naturally ascribed it to the fact that she was a suspected thief. That night she renewed her plaint to her mother, and the two were in an agony of distress, expecting that an arrest would soon follow.

But the arrest did not follow, and the mother and daughter agreed that the firm was waiting further evidence of her guilt. Mr. Bertram Banning whenever he passed Bessie's counter gave her the same interested glance. She made every effort to appear composed, and she succeeded admirably. Then one day Mr. Banning stopped at her counter and had a little chat with her. She had no doubt that he was intending to draw from her some evidence to criminate her, but he confined himself to very ordinary topics that could not possibly bear on the subject of stolen goods. A few days later he spoke to her again, this time intimating that he had made the discovery that she was the daughter of the once wealthy banker, Archibald Childers.

That he had been making inquiries about her was apparent, though his detectives had doubtless gathered the information. The poor girl was in dreadful suspense. She wished that it might end even if by her arrest. Bertram Banning was evidently managing the case, and she wondered that so affable a young man with so much wealth at his command or in prospect did not leave such unpleasant matters to some one else.

One day Bessie was notified that she was promoted to a higher position at a very largely increased salary. The first flash of pleasure in this advance was dashed by the suspicion that it was intended to get her where she could be the more easily entrapped. She talked the matter over with her mother, and they agreed that possibly the thief of the laces was at the bottom of it all. At any rate, influences were at work to get positive evidence. To find stolen goods on her clothing might not be sufficient. She must be caught in the act. As she did not intend to steal anything she had no fear of being caught, but she did fear being made to stand in the place of a thief. Her suspicions were confirmed when she found that she was placed in charge of a stock of goods kept in a room by themselves and where she would be a great deal of the time alone. That there was a peephole through which she would be watched she did not doubt.

The day of her entry on her new duties Bertram Banning came in and congratulated her on her advance, especially as she would not have to sell the goods, only to be responsible for them. She received him in her usual constrained manner, and the more interested he appeared in her welfare the more confirmed she became that he was trying to decoy her off her guard.

Weeks went by, and as there was no denouement of the plot Bessie concluded that some one had been fooled.

One day Bertram Banning came into her room with an expression on his face that convinced her the bomb was about to explode. He did not at once explode it. He bent about the bush with embarrassment. Finally, bracing himself for an effort, he said:

"Miss Childers, I have something."

"Oh, don't!" cried Bessie, covering her face with her hands.

"You know, then. You have looked beyond?"

"Oh, Mr. Banning, that you should!"

"And why not? Is there anything dishonorable in it?"

"No, not dishonorable, but if you only knew how unjust."

"Unjust?"

"Yes, I am absolutely innocent."

"Is it innocent to steal?"

"I did not."

"Miss Childers, you are a thief of the worst kind. True, you have stolen an article of little value, only a poor heart."

Bessie Childers looked at him as one awakened from a dream.

"Your heart?"

"Yes. What did you suppose?"

"I thought you meant the laces."

"Then it came out that the real thief had been caught long ago, but it was the incident that first turned Bertram Banning's attention to Bessie Childers."

'TWIXT Love and Duty a Soldier Falls And a Romance

Is Shattered By Law's Strong Arm.

The Young Girl Is Returned
In Disgrace to Her Mother's Home

And the Love Lorn Youth Is In Prison Charged With Being a Deserter From the United States Army.

Fred Hargreaves, a private of the Third United States Infantry and Miss Irene Ridgley, of Kenton were taken into custody by Chief of Police Mills and sergeant Bacome at the Lima House at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the former to be returned to the United States army barracks at Columbus as a deserter, and Miss Ridgley to be returned in disgrace to the home of her mother, Mrs. Ella Ridgley, at Kenton. The sudden and unexpected confronting of the couple by the two officers put an abrupt termination to an indiscreetly conceived romance which the young couple had been permitting themselves to be led astray in since the 15th of May, when they eloped from the home of the young woman's father in Columbus.

Hargreaves had been detailed to duty in the office of the regimental adjutant at Columbus and while at a dance he met Miss Ridgley, who was in the capital city visiting her father, Wm. Ridgley, who is said to be separated from his wife and who is employed in the Panhandle railroad shops in Columbus. The two young people became infatuated with each other and Hargreaves applied for a furlough for the purpose of going to Kenton with the girl. He did not wait for the furlough, however, and when they reached Kenton, they represented that they had been married. They remained in the Hardin county town until last Wednesday and then Walked to This City, stopping at Alger over night while en route. On arriving in this city, they put on a bold front and registered as man and wife at the Lima house, where they remained until taken in charge by the police yesterday.

To Chief Mills, the Kenton girl confessed that she and Hargreaves were not married and consented to return to the home of her mother in Kenton. Mrs. Ridgley was notified and a man who boards at the Ridgley home in Kenton came to this city and accompanied the girl to Kenton.

Hargreaves is still a prisoner at the police station and will be taken to Columbus, by Chief Mills tomorrow evening.

BELOVED

Wife of Conductor J. M.
Kelly Claimed by Death.

Mrs. Kelly Passed to Rest Sunday Morning, Leaving Husband and Four Children.

Death has cast its gloom over and brought sadness to the home of Conductor James Mendon Kelly, of the C. H. & D., at 809 north Main street. Sunday morning at 4 o'clock his wife, Mrs. Catharine Kelly, gave up her life after an illness of about four weeks duration from pleurisy. The deceased was a daughter of Thomas Casey, of 685 north Union street, and was born in this city, February 8, 1871. To mourn her sad death are her sorrowing husband and four sons--Clarence, Frederick, Paul and Emmet. She is also survived by her father--Mr. Thomas Casey, one brother--Michael Casey, of the train service of the C. H. & D., and five sisters--Mrs. Thos. Powers, Mrs. John Clifford, and the Misses Nell, Julia and Margaret Casey, all of this city.

The funeral services will be held at St. Rose church, Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Interment in Gethsemane.

MART ARMSTRONG POST.

Special meeting of the post will be held Wednesday night, June 8th to further the interests of Comrade Montan, for department commander, and to make all arrangements for going to the department encampment at Tiffin, June 10th. A full turn out of comrades is urgently requested. By order of

PRES. HINER

Attended the Opening of Akron's Hospital.

A Magnificent Testimonial of Millionaire's Generosity.

Perfect Hospital, Built and Equipped by O. C. Barber, and Formally Presented to the City of Akron.

Editor Times-Democrat:—Having attended the dedicatory exercises and reception at the opening of the new hospital at Akron, Sunday, I deem it well to make a "note of it." It was a gala day for the city, the weather being ideal, clouds forming a canopy over the audience, and a constant breeze tempering the heat. A large procession of uniformed men of various orders, military and police, accompanied by four large excellent brass bands, and headed by the venerable Dr. McElbright on horseback, escorted the speakers to the platform in front of the hospital, where over 200 invited guests were seated. The audience was estimated to exceed 10,000. The speeches were interesting and highly applauded. The hospital society 15 years ago received a bequest of $10,000 and an additional sum of $20,000 was secured with which 5 acres, centrally located and a building adequate at that time, was purchased. O. C. Barber, several years ago offered to contribute a new building, which he fully equipped at an expense of $200,000 and formally presented it to the society. It is a four story pressed brick structure, and in every detail is as perfect as unlimited means could create. It was generally conceded to be equaled by few in the United States and excelled by none. It will accommodate 80 patients comfortably. The donor of this magnificent structure has built better than he knew. He has erected a monument that will keep his memory in respect and reverence much longer than the most costly mausoleum; and created a bond of sympathy between himself and the citizens that will endure while the city survives. The city of Akron contributes $12,000 yearly to the institution, which with the income from pay patients, and from an endowment fund of $80,000, will afford ample means to maintain the hospital in keeping with its perfection.

The city is to be congratulated on having citizens of means and disposition to contribute so much in building and endowment--three parks have been donated by the Perkins family, aggregating nearly 300 acres. Another item for emulation on the part of our own citizens, is that a fine lot was secured on which a $75,000 library building is being erected by Mr. Carnegie.

It is to be hoped that Lima citizens will enable the library association to at once avail themselves of the donation offered to them to erect a building.

S. B. HINER.

CARTER & CARROLL'S.

THE IDLER.

Last week, Dick Sinclair received from a sister living in Maine, a lemon she had grown herself, which was a rarity because of its size and weight. By the tape line it measured 13 1-4 inches in circumference, and it tipped the beam at 1 1/2 pounds. But best of all it was of delicious flavor.

At tomorrow evening's session of the state Sunday school convention, Hon. W. B. Ritchie will deliver an address of welcome, to the assembled hosts on behalf of the citizens of Lima and Allen county.

Mrs. Maud Shannon, Miss May Arge and Mr. Hiram Williams, leave Wednesday morning for Orchard Lake, Mich., to attend the grand military ball given Wednesday evening by the senior class of the Michigan Military Academy. Mrs. Shannon's brother, Silas A. Williams, is attending school there and will return home with them.

Secretary T. B. Bowersock, of the county fair board, has just purchased and shipped into his farm, in German township, four head of fine registered Jerseys--three heifers and a bull and will again venture into Jersey stock raising, a branch of the breeding business in which he was very successful for 10 years, prior to becoming a member of the fair board.
